

Fridays with Friends

With Honesty as our virtue this month, the 4K and second grade Friday Friends listened to the classic story of Pinocchio - a story that teaches children about lying. In the story, Pinocchio's nose grows longer every time he tells a lie, which is a powerful visual of the consequences of dishonesty. Students were reminded that when they lie, the situation can grow and worsen - telling the truth is always the best policy and taking responsibility for our actions is an essential part of growing up.

Instead of making their noses grow like Pinocchio's, students enjoyed an experiment and made colorful, wriggly worms grow! Using a pipette, students dropped water over their paper towel worms.

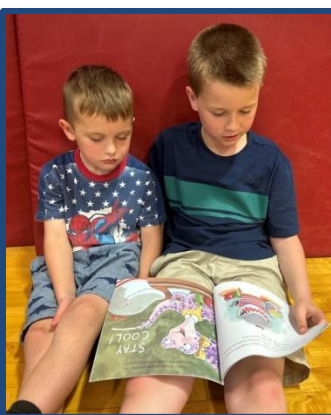

As the water filled up the paper fiber tunnels, they expanded, causing the paper to straighten out - so the worms wriggled and grew. The worms even turned colors!

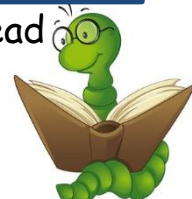

After their worm growing experiment, the second grade students read stories to their 4K friends about virtues and all things spring.

After their worm growing experiment, the second grade students read stories to their 4K friends about virtues and all things spring. It was a wonderful afternoon of learning and fun!

Remember,
HONESTY
is the best policy!

